

The columns below show the amount of funding EdBuild claims that school districts would receive in Fiscal Year 2025 according to House Bill 957, the approximate amount of funding school districts would receive in FY2025 according to current state law (MAEP)¹, and the difference between the two. EdBuild's projections for HB 957 assume the best-case scenario for school districts, including an assumption that no district will have an absentee rate greater than 7 percent.

*FY2012 appropriations for consolidated school districts include the appropriations for all absorbed former districts.

Statewide loss is likely to exceed this amount when losses for charter schools are included.
